Gardner Asked To Aid In Controversy

School Sup't To Meet with Eldorado Groups

C. R. Gardner, Saline county superintendent of schools, today said he had been asked by parties concerned in the Eldorado school controversy to act as a moderator at a meeting to try to come to a satisfactory conclusion and that he was attempting to get the meeting called for today.

Mr. Gardner said that if it was not held today it would be held as soon as possible. To be present, he said, would be at least a quorum from the seven-man board and a committee from the group that has protested the closing of the second and fourth grades at Lincoln school and moving the pupils to Washington.

There was no picketing today at Washington school by protesting mothers and a few others. The women paraded in front of the school Tuesday afternoon, Wednesday and Thursday.

Proposal Revived

When last night's two and a half hour school board meeting at Eldorado's Washington school ended, there were indications that nothing had been accomplished. However, after the meeting had adjourned, a proposition that was made during the meeting and got nowhere — to have both groups meet with the county school superintendent and try to work out something — was revived and today a meeting was being set up.

Mr. Gardner said that last night he suggested nothing be done to aggravate the situation and was happy that there was a spirit of co-operation being manifest today.

At last night's meeting Mr. Gardner made a rough estimate that the school district will receive about $6,000 less state school aid than last year based on the present decrease in enrollment, that he did not know just how much local tax money would be available.

The state is paying about $50 per pupil to the school district under the state aid system which provides $200 per pupil. Local taxes are raising about $150 and the state is making up the difference. The amount paid is not based on the total enrollment but on average daily attendance.

To Discuss Operating Capital

The school board had cut out the two grades and absorbed the pupils elsewhere on grounds that there was less enrollment and less operating capital. The meeting with Gardner is designed to determine as closely as possible just how much less operating capital there is this year than last and if an agreement can be worked out satisfactory — or as satisfactory as possible — to both groups.

The board meeting was attended by about 25 women and ten men.

Air Force Cuts Five Reserve Units in Illinois

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Air Force announced it is cutting its reserve and National Guard force by 13 units, 5 of them in Illinois, in an effort to "streamline" its forces.

The Illinois units to be affected by the move, announced Thursday, are:

The 168th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron; the 347th Troop Carrier Wing Headquarters, and the 84th Troop Carrier Squadron, all based at O'Hare International Airport, to be inactivated.

The 94th Troop Carrier Wing Headquarters, and the 732nd Troop Carrier Squadron, all based at Scott Air Force Base, to be inactivated.

protesting the board's action. The rooms were abolished after a month's meeting when the board unanimously agreed to authorize. City Schools Superintendent Ralph Slow to adjust the enrollment in the three buildings because operation of all the rooms could not be financed.

The question of zoning and finances was argued pro and con at the meeting. At one time Gratton Hill, board member, made a motion to hire two teachers and re-open the two rooms but did not get a second.

Later Delmas Tison, board member, made a motion that the meeting adjourn to meet with a group of the protestors after a meeting had been arranged had been arranged with Mr. Gardner to try to work out something, but his motion was lost in the general conversation. After a lot more discussion the board voted to adjourn.

Wilson Hopes for Early

Removal Of Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said today he hopes federal troops will not have to stay much longer in Little Rock, Ark.

He said emphatically that he does not expect regular Army troops to be used elsewhere in the South.

Wilson said in discussing with newsmen the use of federal troops in the Little Rock school integration crisis that "there is nothing for anybody to cheer about."

He made it plainly clear that he is unhappy at the whole turn of events.

Asked if paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division will remain in Little Rock long, Wilson said: "I hope not, but nobody can tell."

When asked whether the Army was expected to send regular troops anywhere else in the South, he replied with a stern "No."

Okinawans Hit Lack of Advance Typhoon Warning

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Residents of Okinawa complained today that neither their own nor U. S. Air Force weathermen gave them advance warning of vicious typhoon Faye which shattered this Pacific island Thursday.

The violent tropical storm, worst in modern memory, moved near southern Japan today packing winds of 55 miles an hour, sharply reduced from the 148-mile-an-hour winds that raked this U. S. military bastion.

Okinawan police reports put the casualty list at 13 dead, 111 missing and 70 injured. There were 35 Americans among the injured, including a marine with a fractured skull, but none among the dead or missing.

Typhoon Faye crippled military installations, destroyed 800 Okinawan houses and damaged 1,131. It sank 11 vessels of over 5 tons and 33 of under 5 tons. Twenty-four others were missing.

Military officials declined to give a full report of the damage to their installations because of "security restrictions." They did say it was "extensive."

Eyewitnesses said some military installations were in shambles.

At a late hour today there still was no official explanation from U. S. or Okinawan authorities why there was no advance warning to residents of the island.

It was more puzzling because U. S. naval vessels pulled out of port Wednesday night to ride out the storm on the high seas and suffered no damage.

400 West Virginia Students Refuse To Attend Classes

WELCH, W. Va. (AP) — About 400 students at Welch High School refused to attend classes with eight Negroes today and marched through the city's business district carrying signs which read, "We support Little Rock."

Mayor B. F. Howard and the school principal tried unsuccessfully to reason with the demonstrators and persuade them to attend classes.

The mayor gave up "in disgust" at the rejection of his plea and left the school.

Principal E. W. Richardson said the eight Negro students returned to their homes shortly after the demonstration began. He gave no reason for their leaving.

The school has a total enrollment of 1,000.

Mrs. Roosevelt, Khrushchev Meet at Yalta

MOSCOW (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt met with Soviet Communist Party leader Nikita Khrushchev today at a Yalta villa not far from where her late husband conferred with Josef Stalin in 1944.

A Tass dispatch from the Black Sea coast said that "during the reception a conversation was held between Khrushchev and Mrs. Roosevelt which passed in a warm and friendly atmosphere."

No further details were immediately available.

Mrs. Roosevelt, 73, flew from Moscow to Khrushchev's Black Sea retreat on the Crimean peninsula Thursday night to seek some "straight answers" to a list of searching questions she submitted to him about Soviet aims and policies.

Yalta is where her husband, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, carved out a controversial agreement in 1945 with Josef Stalin and Britain's Winston Churchill.

The agreement provided the Soviet Union with concessions in Poland, Germany, China and Japan in return for Russia's entry into the Pacific war shortly before Japan surrendered.

Before her departure, Mrs. Roosevelt, who has had plenty of experience in interviewing world statesmen, said she attaches "much importance" to today's meeting.

"I hope to get some straight answers to my questions," she told United Press.

"American people want to know about political attitudes, ideas about each other, the possibilities of preserving peace and how to improve Soviet-American relations," she said.

Hansen Receives Forestry Award for Exceptional Service

Harold Hansen, administrative officer in the headquarters here of the Shawnee National Forest, yesterday was given a governmental award for 15 months of exceptional service in spite of a shortage of help.

Mr. Hansen, who has been in the local office about six years, was given a check for $100. The check was presented by L. P. Neff, supervisor, who also gave him a letter from the regional forester commending Hansen's accomplishments.

Judge Orders Teamsters Not to Elect Officers

Criticism of Use of Troops Rises in South

By United Press

Criticism of President Eisenhower's use of troops at Little Rock's Central High School came in a torrent today from public officials and avowed segregationists.

There were strong indications that developments in the Arkansas city have solidified intentions in some states to do away with public schooling rather than submit to integration.

In Jackson, Miss., Gov. J. P. Coleman, U. S. Sen. James O. Eastland and U. S. Rep. John Bell Williams agreed during a one-hour television panel discussion that racial mixing will not occur in the state's schools.

"There is (sic) not going to be any integrated schools in Mississippi," Coleman said. "And there is (sic) not going to be visits by the U. S. Army to Mississippi."

Rep. George S. Long (D-La.) urged the legislature of his state to revamp laws to provide a system of private schools, and abolish all taxes dedicated to public schools.

Florida State Sen. H. H. Hair sought to breathe new life into a "last resort" segregation bill vetoed by Gov. Leroy Collins during last summer's legislative session. The bill calls for closing at which integration is ordered.

Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said the President "has given the world the impression that civil war exists and that the United States government has declared war on Arkansas."

Protest took the form of action in some quarters. A Virginia naval officer resigned. One Louisiana draft board resigned as a body, and two others threatened to follow the example.

Rep. A. S. Herlong (D-Fla.) saw the Little Rock crisis as proof the NAACP plans "to overthrow our government."

"If 16 million Negroes can organize a minority and get this much attention from both political parties," Herlong said, "it seems to me that 40 million southern white people would have a much better bargaining weapon if we stick together to accomplish our aims."

Get-Acquainted Picnic by Teachers, Board Members

Members of the board of education and teachers and their families of the Harrisburg elementary school system held their annual get acquainted picnic at the Dixon Springs hotel Thursday evening. Approximately 75 were present.

Following the delicious picnic dinner of barbecue, buns, relishes, potato salad, baked beans, iced tea, coffee and ice cream bars, the group adjourned to the screened-in porch for a program.

Eugene Morris, McKinley school principal, was master of ceremonies and introduced Stobart Abney, member of the Junior high school faculty, president of the teachers' organization. Mr. Abney welcomed the group and stated the picnics were held to get acquainted with the new teachers.

Mr. Morris introduced the new members of the teaching staff — Miss Jane Ratcliff, vocal music supervisor; Mrs. Betty Eichorn, girls' physical education at Junior high school; Robert Marquess, Horace Mann; Mrs. Virginia Melton and Larry Lee Reed, Dorris Heights; David Patterson, McKinley.

As an initiation stunt the new teachers participated in two class room activities — singing games and common learnings. They also presented a short 2-act playlet.

Fred Wunderlich led group singing and the remainder of the evening was spent in square-dancing.

FBI Probes Reports Friends of Faubus a 'Principal Agitator'

BULLETIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Mother's League of Central High said today it will ask Gov. Orval E. Faubus Saturday to close the school immediately because "federal dictatorship is not conducive to educational activities."

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Federal agents investigated today Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann's charges that a close friend of Gov. Orval Faubus was a "principal agitator" of last Monday's violence at Central High School.

The friend is James T. Karam. Mann made the charges in a telegram last Monday to Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. FBI agents, it was learned, are checking out the charges.

Students returned to Central High this morning for their third day of integrated classes. All was calm in the area as the children were driven to the main entrance in an Army station wagon conveyed by two jeeps of paratroopers.

A few white students standing on the steps clapped and shouted what sounded like friendly greetings as the Negroes entered.

Faubus Thursday night accused a Little Rock newspaper editor, the mayor and a former governor of "heavy" responsibility for the troop movement into Arkansas.

The former governor, Sid McMath, described Faubus' nationwide radio-TV speech as "highly inflammatory." He said it was significant that Faubus waited until the end of his speech to call for calmness of the people to an even higher pitch.

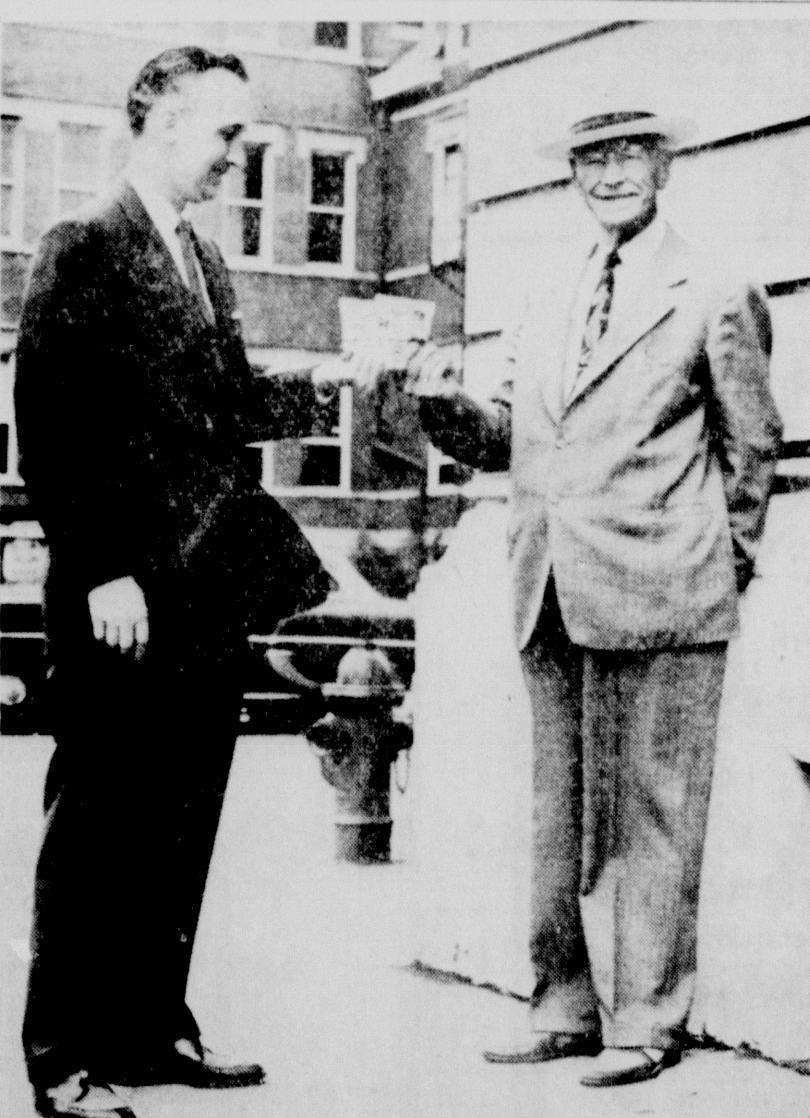

Editor Harry Ashmore of the Arkansas Gazette denied any implication in President Eisenhower's decision to federalize the state militia and fly in airborne Army troops.

Faubus, in a nationwide television and radio speech Thursday night, urged the people of Little Rock to accept the "military occupation" of their city in a "friendly, peaceful manner."

He said in a news conference after the speech that the troops may be in Little Rock as much as eight months, until school lets out in June.

As to whether he expects trouble to break out all over again when the troops leave, he said:

"If enough time elapses for a cooling-off period, it may be that everything will be peaceful when the troops are withdrawn. I certainly hope so."

Action Taken On Request of Rank-File Group

Union Enjoined From Recognizing Improper Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal court judge ordered the Teamsters Union today not to elect officers at its national convention in Miami Beach, Fla., next week.

Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts also enjoined the union from recognizing credentials of convention delegates who were selected improperly by Teamster locals.

The judge granted a preliminary injunction prohibiting an election at the request of 13 rank-and-file teamsters from the New York area.

The group, in filing the suit, charged that the convention was rigged to insure election of Midwest Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa as Dave Beck's successor as president.

Hoffa was the leading contender for Beck's $50,000-a-year job.

Martin F. O'Donoghue, attorney for the Teamsters, told newsmen he will appeal Letts' ruling immediately to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Otherwise, he said, he did not see how the convention "can go on."

O'Donoghue said the election was the "essential part" of the convention. About $200,000 already has been spent on convention expenses and about two million dollars is committed for hotel bills, printing and expenses of delegates.

Letts directed the rank-and-file members to put up a $50,000 bond to cover damages in case his ruling eventually is reversed.

Besides the scheduled business of officers, other major business before the convention included proposals to reform the union's constitution. Hoffa had indicated the document would be amended so it would be more in line with AFL-CIO ethical standards.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council had ordered the union, in effect, to get rid of Hoffa, Beck and two other top officials before Oct. 24, or face expulsion.

Autos Collide On Route 34

Autos driven by Novel Keith Farmer, 38, and Roy Lane, 64, Harrisburg Route 34, collided at Route 34 and the Pierson road at 7:50 a. m. today but there were no injuries.

State Policeman Adolph Sweet said Farmer was driving toward Harrisburg on Route 34 and that Lane drove onto Route 34, the collision resulting. Farmer's car left the highway and tore down some signs and a section of fence, he added.

Farmer and his passenger, William E. Randolph, are employees of Townes Chevrolet agency in Harrisburg.

Teamster Power

Editorial—BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Having taken a stand firmly on principle, the AFL-CIO seems strongly committed to casting out the Teamsters union soon unless an unlooked-for house cleaning of top union leadership occurs. But the ouster, if it comes, will bring little joy to the merged federation.

The Teamsters have 1,400,000 members, or nearly one-tenth of total AFL-CIO membership. No organization can look with pleasure upon a move that will lop off that much of its strength.

Actually, in realistic terms, the damage will be much greater than mere numbers suggest.

A word to truck drivers in the Teamsters' fold can immobilize big segments of the economy and, indeed, whole cities. All they have to do is shut off deliveries of essential supplies. No other union is thus poised at the nation's jugular.

Its key position has often been of critical aid, therefore, to other unions involved in disputes with management. Many times a strike's success has hinged on whether or not Teamsters would cross a picket line.

To expect this kind of help from a union tossed out of the federation, possibly to the accompaniment of harsh words, would be asking a lot. Some Teamster locals might choose to lend a hand as they saw fit, but the chances are that they would be in defiance of the top authority.

An outlier certainly is not going to add to the Teamsters' public stature. Yet they appear unlikely to suffer deep economic wounds in consequence.

The union's international treasury, for all the dipping in by top brass, stands around 40 million dollars, and that sum may be matched by the treasuries of local and regional joint councils. After two notable previous ousters—the United Electrical Workers and the International Longshoremen's Association—the then separate CIO and AFL organized rival unions to combat the penalized organizations. In the case of the ILA, the effort was pretty much a failure.

Against the powerful Teamsters such a move would probably be even more dubious, and there is no indication it will be tried. In fact, the Teamsters might for their own part attempt to cluster other unions about them in a rival federation.

Obviously, if the AFL-CIO does throw the Teamsters out, it may be a real question who is hurt the most—the spanker or the spanked.

"Okay, Let Me Have a Board"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is reporting from the eastern Mediterranean.)

DREW PEARSON Says:
Tiny Jordan Is Most Coveted Of Arab States; Intrigue Still Thrives In Ancient Amman; King Hussein Faces Life-And-Death Showdown.

AMMAN, Jordan. — This is the ancient city against which King David sent Uriah the Hittite into battle after David saw Uriah's beautiful wife Bathsheba washing her hair on a rooftop. Uriah was killed in battle. David's henchmen bought off part of the Syrian army and the city of Amman was captured.

Out of the marriage between David and Bathsheba was born Solomon, but the Lord decreed that from that time on "The sword shall never depart from David's house."

Though David has been dead these many centuries the sword has continued to hang over the city of Amman. It has been a center of intrigue and conquest. Once it was taken by the Greeks and renamed Philadelphia. Later it was taken by the Romans, then the Turks. More recently, it was ruled by the British through Glubb Pasha, and today it's the Syrians, once bought off by David, who are back again trying to buy off the political leaders of Jordan.

John Foster Dulles has sent 50 jeeps with recoilless armor-piercing guns to block the Syrians.

Today the little country of Jordan is truly the center of more international conspiracy than any in the Near East. It is also a police state. In driving from Amman to Jericho, a distance similar to that between Washington and Baltimore, I was stopped five times by troops to show my passport, even though I was in a United Nations car. UN officials with me also had to show their passports.

PILOT AGAINST KING
The troops were looking for Syrian conspirators plotting against King Hussein.

Twice before, an assassination attempt almost succeeded. Once last spring, the king had to dissolve parliament and put loyal Bedouin leaders in complete control of his army. At that time, in front of the Hotel Philadelphia where I live, a row of conspirators was hanged each morning. Their bodies were not cut down until noon.

The passing populace understood. Things have been quieter in Amman since.

Underneath the surface, however, the situation is tense. Seven tents of Bedouin troops camp outside the American embassy, guarding it day and night. The embassy is surrounded by a high brick wall. Its door is protected by steel bars, as a penitentiary.

In front of the U. S. Information office a few days ago a bomb exploded. Another went off next night in front of the Turkish embassy, also against Syria and the Russians.

Later a cache of Czechoslovak arms was found in the Jordanian village of Ramtha, near the Syrian border. Syria has an arms agreement with Communist Czechoslovakia, similar to that negotiated by Col. Nasser of Egypt. Obviously the arms were smuggled from Syria as a plot against King Hussein.

In brief, Amman is not a happy place in which to live, especially for the king.

DESERT KINGDOM

As you fly from Beirut to Amman you wonder why Syria or David or anyone else should covet it. Flying in a rickety Arab plane which gives the impression of being held together by baling wire, you look down on vast stretches of desert. Here and there thin rails are sketched in the sand, caravan trails leading from Damascus into Jordan.

On the hilltops are stone walls, carefully constructed through the centuries, some of them used as reservoirs to store water in the rainy season, some as corrals for sheep.

As you fly south, you see an occasional strip of green, emerald proof of what irrigation will do to this rich, arid soil. Finally you burst out on a green oasis, a river with a city built around it on seven hills—the ancient city of Amman, once Philadelphia.

Distances are short in the Near East. The whole trip from Beirut, Lebanon, to Amman takes the same amount of time as it does to fly from New York to Washington. Only you must add 30 minutes for examining passports and security checks in Amman's new modern air terminal—more modern than New York's—to get in.

WHY THEY WANT JORDAN

When you study the map of the Near East, however, and know something of its history, you understand why Jordan is the most coveted of Arab states.

When in Damascus, Gen. Afif Bizri, military strong man of Syria, told me: "Syria and Egypt will unite much quicker than you think."

This is the official policy of Syria—union with Egypt—as a step toward a union of all the Arab states.

Union, however, is difficult when two nations have no common borders, are separated by sea and desert. The only way

Egypt and Syria could achieve a common border by annexing Jordan, which extends from Syria in the north to the Gulf of Aquaba in the south. True, a thin finger of Israel lies between Jordan and Egypt at Elat, head of the gulf.

But this thin strip of Israel is recognized by neither Egypt nor Syria and almost certainly would be an object of attack if Syria swallowed Jordan. In fact, Syria has an ancient claim that her borders extend all the way to El Arish on the Egyptian-Israeli border.

That, therefore, is one key to the importance of Jordan. It's also the key to the enforceability of the Eisenhower Doctrine. For if Egypt and Syria do move against Jordan it will be by subversion inside the country—not covered by the Ike doctrine but just as dangerous to American interests, to Israel and the oil-rich Arabian peninsula.

This showdown is almost sure to come, and with it will come a real showdown for President Eisenhower. This showdown will mean life or death to young King Hussein, the chief friend of the West in this desert kingdom. To learn how he will react in this crisis I went to see him.

PIKES PEAK CLIMB SHOWS WHY YOUR CHEVY WILL KEEP ON GOING...KEEP ON SAVING!

It takes a totally rugged truck with tremendous pulling power to climb Pikes Peak to the top without using the road. Yet that's what a Chevrolet pickup did... kept on going up towering grades, over miles-long boulder fields and through the thin air of altitudes up to 14,110 feet. It fought through a "no man's land" that appeared too difficult for any truck. This truck was equipped with the same sturdy components you can get with your light-duty Chevy! See your Chevrolet dealer.

"A CYNIC IS A MAN WHO KNOWS THE PRICE OF EVERYTHING, AND THE VALUE OF NOTHING"

—Oscar Wilde.

Although it is a statistical fact that the price the average family spends for their medicines is now a lesser percentage of their total income than it used to be ten years ago, it is also a fact that their benefits are now much greater.

Modern prescriptions are really a great value because they help you to get well so much more quickly than you are sick only days, instead of weeks. Their price is low compared to their value.

STONEFORT SCHOOL NEWS

Basketball News

The coaches met Thursday night at Chittiville to work out the basketball schedule. We are going to have a small team this year, but we feel that their speed and spirit will make up for their lack of size. Here is the schedule for the season for the Little Egyptian Conference:

Stonefort home games: St. Mary's October 29, Freeman Spur, November 1, Energy, November 5, Crainville, November 12, Pittsburg, November 19, Cambria, November 21 (homecoming), Chittiville, December 2, St. Mary's, December 12, Cambria, December 19, Colp, January 3, Crainville, January 17, Pittsburg, January 27, Chittiville, January 28.

Admission prices this year will be 15 cents and 30 cents. We are playing in a conference with high standards which makes good basketball. Two licensed referees are required for each game, and all players must have regulation suits and shoes. Our expenses will be higher, so we urge everyone to come to the games and give our boys your whole-hearted support. We can assure you that you will see some good basketball and enjoy being with the crowd at the gymnasium. We will be looking for you the very first game.

The boys are working hard and looking forward eagerly to the beginning of the season. We feel that they will be up among the top teams when the season's play ends.

WHEN LIGHTNING STRIKES, it strikes without forewarning... Lightning-like, in this respect, are the more usual plunderers of personal property—the "ordinary" home fire and the common thief. There is nothing ordinary or common about the toll these two marauders exact each year: It amounts to hundreds of millions of dollars. But it would be truly astronomical, if we did not have the low-cost safe deposit protection provided by America's banks—whitherso many Americans have had the prudence to transfer valued possessions.

Don Little

... the magic teakettle and your morning coffee

Your electric percolator has breakfast coffee ready in just a few minutes, but plans for your coffee really start before you wake... with Don Little and his magic teakettle.

Early this morning, Don, a boiler operator at one of the three big CIPS generating stations, began feeding pulverized coal... ground finer than face powder... into eight-story-high boilers, often called "teakettles" by the men who watch over them.

Steam from water pipes in the boilers, which operate at 2700 degrees Fahrenheit, turns giant turbine generators. This produces the electricity that flows to your home at a speed of 186,000 miles a second.

It does seem almost like magic when you think about it. Each time you flip a switch in your home, something wonderfully convenient happens. Your percolator "percs" and range burners heat. Lights glow, air conditioning cools, the washer launders and the TV set brings a world of entertainment into your living room... all at the touch of a finger.

But, the "magic" of your electricity is the result of millions of dollars invested in equipment like the "teakettle," and the combined efforts of more than 1750 CIPS employees like Don Little who help provide you with adequate and dependable electric service... still the biggest bargain in the family budget.

A STRONG MAN would have to work 22-1/2 eight-hour days to do the amount of work which electricity does in ONE day in the average American home. What else that you buy today does so much... costs so little?

Crime Booms, FBI Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI records showed today that crime boomed in the United States during the first six months of 1957.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said more major crimes were committed during the first half of the year than in any similar period on record.

Hoover said reports from 3,023 police departments across the country indicated there were 1,399,670 major crimes in the six-months period. That would be an average of about one crime every 11.2 seconds.

The FBI chief said this rate represented an 8.4 per cent increase over the rate for the first six months of last year.

Hoover said that while the bulk

Saline Schools Receive $19,329 for Training Exceptional Children

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction, has just approved a claim of $19,329 to Saline county public schools as reimbursement for excess costs of educating exceptional children for the school year ending June 30, 1957.

The claim was a part of a total approved claim of $6,633,266.37 for the state of Illinois. Of this amount $3,246,458.83 was approved for the Chicago public schools last week. The remainder of $3,386,807.54 included $1,044,314.36 for outlying Cook county school districts.

The special education program, administered by Nickell's office, includes the separate programs of the physically handicapped, defective vision, defective hearing, educable mentally handicapped, trainable mentally handicapped, maladjusted child program and speech correction.

Eighty-eight of the state's 102 counties are participating in the statewide distribution, Nickell said.

Not until 1900 was mass baking in factories attempted, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Threats By Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former Michigan union official testified before the Senate Rackets Committee today that he had received repeated threats, including death, from Midwest Teamster boss James R. Hoffa and his associates.

The witness, Robert Scott, former secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Federation of Labor and a former business agent of Teamsters Local 614 in Pontiac, said the threats dated back to the mid-1940s.

He said they were directed against both himself and his wife.

The most recent, he said, were in two anonymous telephone calls last week warning him not to testify before the committee.

Committee Promises Protection
Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) promised that "this committee will do everything in its power . . . to give you and your family protection." McClellan urged Scott to advise the committee if any further threats are received.

Scott testified that Hoffa, in 1952, threatened to "break both my arms and legs" if Scott resigned from the Michigan Federation of Labor. But he said he resigned anyway because of objection to the way Hoffa and his associates were changing the federation's constitution.

In 1948 while he was an official of the Pontiac local, Scott testified, Hoffa's brother, William, tried to get another man to "bump me off" because Scott would not help William get into the Michigan numbers racket.

Despite all the threats, Scott said he has not yet suffered any physical violence. But he said anonymous telephone calls to his first wife about 1944 were a factor in her death after suffering from arthritis.

Fears for Daughter

He testified that he is not afraid for himself but that he has "a little daughter I am worried about."

Scott was the first witness as the committee rushed to complete the record on Hoffa before the Tammer Union presidential election next week.

Scott, a barber now serving the Michigan Board of Barber Examiners, testified that he had been swept into office in a Pontiac, Mich., Teamster vote in 1948 by an election "rigged" to rule out all other eligibles. The election was rigged, he said, by officials who had been appointed by Hoffa.

Othello South Tells of Work On New Underground Parking Area in Detroit

Mr. and Mrs. Othello South, Centerline, Mich., which is two miles north of Detroit, are visiting their southern Illinois relatives and friends. His sister, Mr. Walter Edwards, lives at Norris City and they have a home near Gossett.

Mr. South is an operating engineer and has recently finished work on an underground automobile parking project which is three stories deep and underlies the Grand Circus Park, a short distance north of Hudson's store in Detroit. This three-tiered heated underground parking area was built at a cost of $4,100,000.00.

It is privately owned but will revert to the city in 30 years, Mr. South said. Built to accommodate 400 cars, the new Grand Circus parking area had 100 customers on the opening date, and a hundred of the stalls were contracted before completed by professional people who will keep their cars there month-in and month-out, Mr. South said.

It will be of interest to Harris-

The winter time parking in a heated area has its outstanding advantage for this type of new industry. Engineers removed the park facilities to complete construction and restored them when the underground parking was completed, a period covering almost two years of construction.

Saud Supports Syria; Urges Mild U.S. Policy

By United Press
King Saud of Saudi Arabia announced his open support of Syrian policy and has asked President Eisenhower to follow a "milder" policy towards that nation, Damascus dispatches reported today.

Saud's statement pledging support to Syria in resisting any anti-Arab aggression from any quarter was issued in Damascus Thursday night and made public today.

Egyptian political quarters hailed the Saud statement as proof the United States "hard line" on Syria has backfired and produced a new spirit of Arab unity that may bring Iraq into the fold of neutralist states. Iraq is a key member of the Baghdad Pact.

Informed sources in Cairo said Iraqi Premier Ali Jawdat hurried to the Damascus meeting with Saud to disassociate himself with the bickering statements issued against Syria by the United States, Britain and Turkey.

Ike Cruises on Atomic Submarine

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday became the first Chief Executive ever to travel by atomic submarine.

He boarded the U. S. S. Seawolf and slipped below the surface of the Atlantic into the eerie, silent submarine world.

Eisenhower made a two-hour cruise aboard the Navy's newest nuclear undersea killer, just back from a month of maneuvers with the NATO naval forces.

The Seawolf was submerged at 60 feet for about 15 minutes during the cruise while the President walked through her complicated decks, watching the young scientists of the Navy put the 300-foot craft through her paces.

Mother of Quadruple Amputee Veteran Killed in Auto Crash

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—The mother of a quadruple amputee veteran of the Korean War was killed Thursday in a two car collision east of here.

She was identified as Mrs. Wanda Reeves, 47, Joliet, mother of Ed Reeves, a student at the University of Illinois.

Eyewitnesses said a car driven by Mrs. Reeves' husband, Hubert, was hit by a car driven on the wrong side of the road by Frank Miner, 27, Joliet.

Illinois Pilot Killed In Maneuvers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy has disclosed that Lt. (jg) Joseph R. Juricic, Chicago, was killed in a plane accident during the NATO maneuvers in the North Atlantic.

Juricic was one of three men killed Thursday when a twin-jet, carrier-based, bomber crashed while landing on the flight deck of the U.S.S. Forrestal.

Juricic is survived by a wife, Kathleen Ann, Chicago.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Juricic, live in Joliet.

Hoover Denies Faubus Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover denied today a statement by Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas that FBI agents held teen-age girls "incommunicado" during hours of questioning.

Hoover said the governor's statement over a nation-wide TV broadcast Thursday night was a "false as his recent statement that the FBI tapped his telephone."

Hoover said no teen-ager has been held incommunicado by the FBI for hours of questioning.

"We, of course," he added, "have talked to students, including those whose names have been furnished to us by Governor Faubus' counsel for the purpose of securing information with respect to possible violence."

The FBI director's statement reflected the bitter reaction throughout the Justice Department to Faubus' charges of totalitarian action by the federal government.

Hoover said that if Faubus had been interested in "securing the truth rather than disseminating falsehoods," a telephone call to the Little Rock office of the FBI or to Hoover himself would have provided him with the facts.

The grand jury met Monday, but recessed until today at the request of State's Atty. Carl Sneed for additional investigation.

Mayor Robert Cooksey ordered an investigation after the fire. Evidence collected by Police Chief Charles Edwards and Fire Chief Herman May was turned over to Sneed.

Mrs. Sally Johnson of West Frankfort, owner of the Sally Shoppe which was damaged by the fire, said merchandise valued at "several hundreds of dollars" was taken following the blaze.

alert order had been issued. Then it was discovered someone had sent out a "precautionary training directive" only Wednesday telling certain units there should be an "increased emphasis on training for riot duty."

Press Secretary James C. Hagerity was asked at the vacation White House in Newport, R. I., if President Eisenhower had ordered or requested any alert involving troops other than those at Little Rock.

Hagerity replied: "Definitely not."

The directive actually amounted to a reminder to commanders of what they should be doing under normal Army regulations, if they weren't doing it already.

Brucker ordered the directive cancelled, saying it was subject to misinterpretation.

Arsonist Touches Off Oil Fires At Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Raging, thundering oil fires apparently touched off by an arsonist's torch swept two Grand Rapids area oil companies Thursday night and early today.

No serious injuries were reported. Officials said more than 150,000 gallons of fuel oil were destroyed. They placed damage at more than a half-million dollars.

"This is definitely 'arson,' Grand Rapids Fire Chief Frank H. Burns said after surveying the scene. As a precautionary measure police stationed guards at the remaining two dozen oil company storage yards in the area.

The first blast Thursday night tore through the Cornell Oil Co. about 10 miles south of here. Witnesses said it rocked a two-mile area and lit up the sky like a "small atom bomb exploding."

Another blast early today struck the Ver Brugge Oil Co. on the south side of town five miles from the Cornell explosion. Both fires were under control by 2 a. m. e. s. t. today.

Thousands of persons watched as firemen battled the two fires which prompted the greatest mobilization of police, firemen, Red Cross and Civil Defense since a tornado struck in April, 1956.

Japanese Report Russia Tests Second Missile

TOKYO (AP)—The Soviet Union has tested successfully a second intercontinental ballistic missile, a Japanese newspaper dispatch from London said today.

The dispatch, published by Mainichi, quoted Japanese labor leader Akira Iwai as saying Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan authorized him to announce the successful test was held Aug. 26.

It was on Aug. 26 that the Soviet government announced it had fired its first ocean-spanning ICBM just a few days before.

The United States has yet to announce a successful test-firing of an ICBM but U. S. officials indicated they regard the first Soviet test as a challenge.

Illinois-UCLA Tilt Tonight Sets Keynote for Big Week End of College Grid Games

By United Press

A toss-up battle between UCLA and Illinois tonight opens and sets the keynote for a big week end of college football in which intersectional games will dominate the gridiron menu.

Illinois expects only limited service from injured fullback Jack Delvaux and center Joe Wendry hoski, but displayed sharp passing in workouts. UCLA is anxious to beat the Illini for the first time in four tries, dating back to a 45-14 rout in the '47 Rose Bowl game.

The two leagues that clash in the Rose Bowl will resume warfare Saturday with Minnesota favored by 13 points over Washington, Michigan by 14 points over Southern California, and North western even money against Stanford in this week's nationally televised game.

The Big Ten teams and the top eastern teams will be making their season debut this week, seven days later than most teams in the other sections. But national champion Oklahoma, an impressive winner last week over Pittsburgh, will be idle.

Here's a capsule survey of some of Saturday's other top games:

Intersectional—Army, a 19-point favorite over once-beaten Nebraska; Ohio State favored over a Texas Christian team held to a tie by Kansas; Georgia Tech, ranked No. 3 nationally, expected to prove its class by 13 over the SMU team that beat California; Pittsburgh a six-point pick to rebound from the Oklahoma rout by beating Oregon; Iowa a top-heavy choice over Utah State; Oregon State eight over Kansas and Texas six over Tulane.

League Games—Michigan State, No. 4 nationally, a 21-point favorite to open the Big Ten season with a win over Indiana; Brown 13 points over Columbia in the Ivy League lid-fitter; Mississippi by six over Kentucky, Tennessee by seven over Auburn, Georgia over Vanderbilt, and Alabama over Louisiana State in the Southeastern; Duke picked by nine over Virginia and Maryland by seven over North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference; Colorado by 13 over Utah in the Skyline Conference, and California and Washington State even money in the Pacific Coast Conference.

Non-League—Purdue picked by one point over a Notre Dame team anxious to make folks forget last year; Texas A&M, the nation's No. 2 team, a prohibitive choice under the lights against Texas Tech; Cornell by two over Colgate; Baylor six points over Houston; mighty Navy 21 over William & Mary; Penn State 14 over arch-rival Pennsylvania; West Virginia six over Virginia Tech, and Arkansas 13 over Tulsa.

Bradley Beats Western Illinois

MACOMB, Ill. — Two touchdowns by halfback Roger Hansen gave Bradley University a 19-13 win over Western Illinois University Thursday night.

Hansen's pair of touchdowns included a 91-yard run. The third Bradley touchdown was scored by Jim Carruthers who snagged a pass.

Freshman Willie Spates scored two touchdowns for the losers, once from the one yard line and another on a 61-yard gallop.

Fight Results

SAGINAW, Mich. — Pat Lowry, 155, Saginaw, knocked out Willie Barbois, 156, Toronto (4).

LOS ANGELES — Young Jack Johnson, 214, Los Angeles, outpointed Kolo (Duke) Sadedong, 216, Honolulu (10).

RICHMOND, Calif. — Dick Lane 162, Billings, Mont., stopped Johnny Heard, 161, Richmond (8).

Aaron, Sievers Shoot Works for Major Titles

By United Press

Hank Aaron, tuning up for the World Series, and Roy Sievers, tuning up for a big pay raise, shoot the works tonight to try to nail down the only two major battling titles still up for grabs on the final week end of the major league baseball season.

Aaron, the star Milwaukee Braves outfielder, already has clinched the National League runs batted in title with 132 and leads Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs in the home run derby, 44 to 43. The Braves have three games left to play as do the Cubs.

Sievers, the "poor man's Mickey Mantle," has all but clinched the home run and runs batted in titles in the American League.

Williams, Musial Top Batters

The big Washington outfielder has 41 homers, three more than Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, and 112 RBIs, eight more than runner-up Vic Wertz of the Cleveland Indians.

Williams and Stan Musial already have locked down the batting titles in their respective leagues. Williams, hitting .386, has a 21-point lead over Mantle, who will be rested until the opening of the World Series next Wednesday.

Musial, given the final three days of the season off, is batting .351 and for all practical purposes has won the NL title. Willie Mays of the New York Giants is his closest opponent with a .333 mark.

The 20-game winner's circle figures to be a particularly exclusive club this year with only two already in and another with a chance to make it. Warren Spahn of the Braves has won 21 for the only NL pitcher to reach that magic figure, while Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox, also a lefty, is the only AL pitcher.

Bunning Has Chance

Right-hander Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers, who is scheduled to start against the Kansas City Athletics tonight, can join the circle with a win. His mark is 19-8. Tonight's other AL action finds Cleveland at Chicago and Baltimore at Washington and the Yanks in Boston for a day game. In the NL, it's Brooklyn at Philadelphia, Cincinnati at Milwaukee and Chicago at St. Louis, all night games.

Rookie Bill Harrell with a triple and single paced the Indians to a 2-1 victory over the Athletics in a night game and Frank Bolling's single enabled the Detroit Tigers to beat the White Sox, 3-2, in Thursday's only other action. The Tigers need only one more win to insure themselves of a first division berth for the first time since 1950.

GEC Votes to Hold Tourneys At Ridgway High

The Greater Egyptian conference will stage its annual basketball tournament at Ridgway at least for the next two years.

At a meeting of GEC members, held at the Shawneetown high school Wednesday evening, it was voted to hold the tournament in the spacious Ridgway gym for both the 1957-58 and 1958-59 seasons. This season's meet is scheduled for Jan. 14-17, 1958.

Officers of the conference are J. R. Martin, Rosiclare high school principal, president; J. O. Austin, Ridgway high school principal, vice president; Darwin Vatter, Shawneetown high school coach, secretary-treasurer.

Vienna high school made application to become a member of the GEC and it was voted to delay final action on the application until Oct. 31, so that all details pertaining to membership could be worked. Vienna formerly was a member, but resigned following the 1955-56 school term.

A new basketball schedule, covering a two-year period and which would be readopted each two years, was accepted. However, if Vienna becomes a member of the loop, effective with the start of next school year, the schedule would be completed this season and another drawn up to include the eight schools.

At the present time Galatia, Shawneetown, Ridgway, Equality, Cave-in-Rock, Pope County (Goldconda) and Rosiclare are members of the GEC.

The next meeting of the conference is listed for Jan. 2 at Ridgway, at which time tournament drawings will be completed and spring activities discussed.

Following the meeting Wednesday members of the Shawneetown high school home economics department served refreshments of ice cream and cookies.

Giardello-Lane Bout Tonight

CLEVELAND — Middleweight contender Joey Giardello risks his No. 2 ranking tonight in a televisor 10-rounder at the Arena against 23-year-old dynamite Bobby Lane. The oddsmakers gave an early 9-5 edge to the veteran Giardello, who has a record of 69 victories in 88 professional bouts, with only 13 setbacks and five draws.

Lane, a native of Miami, threatens to blast Giardello from his lofty perch with his explosive punches which have knocked out six out of his last seven opponents. His overall record — strengthened by 10 straight wins — stands at 26-5-3.

THE NEW LOOK IS THE LOW LOOK...

DOBBS SO-LO

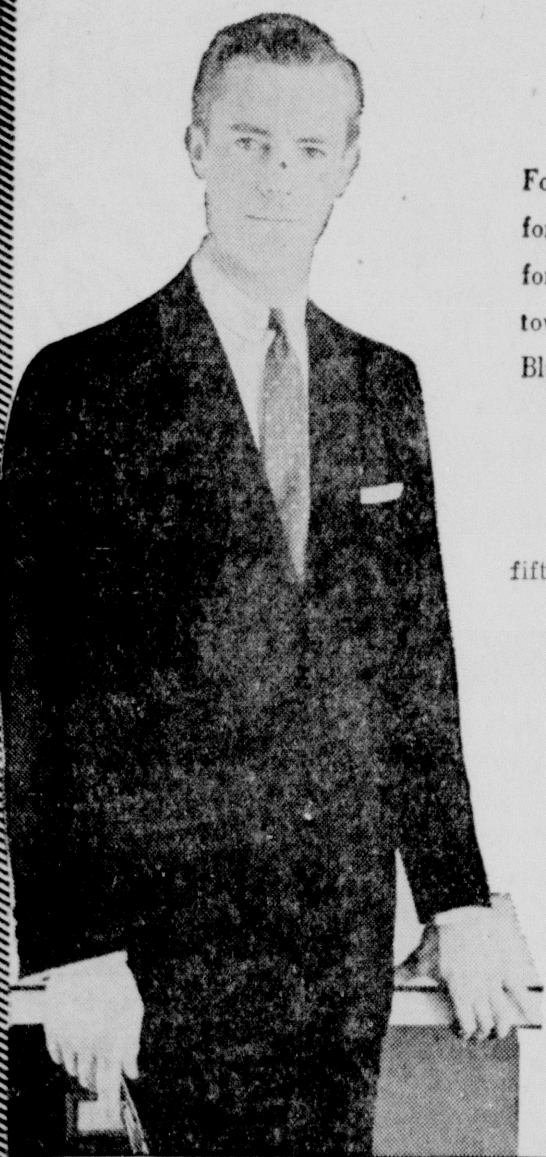

This new look is low and level-headed! In their new So-Lo, Dobbs has lowered the crown... inches! The effect is startling—trimmer, less bulky—and at the same time, lighter in weight than you have any right to expect.

STAMPEDE AT BLUE SPRINGS

BY GENE OLSON

XXXVI
We just sat, me and Blanchard and Lillian and Dick. Pete Dorsey was hard asleep on the couch. Lillian said, "Pike, isn't it strange that this town should owe you so much?"

I frowned. "This town don't owe me nothing."
"Of course it does. You saved it from a bad mistake. If it hadn't been for you, it might have been entirely different."

I got up, a little mad. "This town don't have to be beholden to me. I didn't do anything to help this town. If Blue Springs got benefit from what I did, then I'm mighty sorry, that's all."

Blanchard looked at Lillian. Blanchard said, "Pike. Listen to me now. Maybe you'll see it better. My father was killed about 15 years ago up in Dakota. When my Pa was hung, they said it was just a matter of time until it happened to me. I had his blood, they said, and would never amount to a hill of beans. I've been working ever since to make liars out of them. Now you got a start. You work hard, too, and you can make these folks choke on every bad word they ever said about you."

They went to the station then. The train pulled in and when I rounded the depot corner, I was surprised how many folks were there, a whole lot of them around the depot and in the grassy lot to the north and more standing up on the baggage cart. I held back a little, then sidled up to where I could see Blanchard and Dorsey and Lillian and Dick by the steps to the passenger coach. Blanchard turned and looked my way. I thought he was looking at me but he wasn't. He stared past me, to a man by the depot wall. I recognized him just as the man started to move north around the depot.

"Hawk!"
Blanchard's voice was a whip. Nev Hawk felt the sting and stopped. Blanchard took four steps toward him. I thought about stepping back so Hawk wouldn't see me. Then I wasn't afraid any more. The beating on the ferryboat was a long time ago; things had changed.

"Listen, Hawk," Blanchard's voice was low but it carried so at least 40 people heard every word as good as I did. "They say you're a good man with your fists. I'd like to know if you fight men as well as boys."

Quiet settled fast. There was only Blanchard, all alone well out from the depot, and Hawk, near the depot, half-turned to him. Everybody else faded into the night, afraid of the coming storm but wanting to see it hit. But the storm blew itself out. Hawk turned and walked fast around the depot. Somebody laughed, then hooted. Then quiet came again.

"Hawk!" Blanchard's voice split the quiet. "I'll be back to find out!"

Hawk was gone.
Well, something happened right then. I wasn't mad or sick any more. I wanted to smile. And maybe laugh a little, and do a dance, and have kittens, right there on the depot bricks. Blanchard spotted me and came over and stuck out his hand. I just looked at it in a silly way. Then I took it and tried to grip as hard as he did. Shook my hand, Blanchard did, right there in front of everybody, my hand and nobody else's.

Then he turned and went to the coach and helped Dorsey up the steps. I went close to the coach, by Lillian and Dick. Blanchard started up the steps, then turned back. Soft, just to me, he said, "Pike, I'll be back in a few days. Then we'll go to that rock west of town. We'll get your Pa. We'll bury him in the town cemetery. There's not a dozen men in town good enough to stop us."

I nodded, hard. That sure sounded fine to me. I felt good enough to bust.

Blanchard turned back into the coach. Lillian said, "Harney..." Blanchard came down off the steps. He took Lillian in his arms and kissed her good, like nobody else at all was there. He said, "I wanted to say more, Lillian. You don't have to. Not a woman like you. I'll prove that when I come back, if you'll let me."

The train started to move. Blanchard jumped up on the step. He reached in his pocket and handed a piece of paper to me.

"Send that to Omaha City for me, Pike," he said.

"You bet, Harney," I said.

Then Blanchard was gone. The red lantern on the last car swung back and forth and drew away and got small. I looked at the piece of paper. It said: "Delayed at Blue Springs. Arrive at Leavenworth Friday night. Blanchard."

I told Lillian to wait. I went to give the message to Conliffe. They opened a path for me to the depot. Conliffe was in there, leaning on the counter, with a green visor shading his eyes. I gave him the paper and he squinted at it. I didn't give him time to read it. "Get that on the wire right away," I said. "Official business." Conliffe looked up, surprised. Then he nodded, slow. "All right... Pike. Sure. Whatever you say."

I went out and found Lillian and Dick in the crowd. We started back toward Chicago Street, everybody watching us, most smiling at us. At the hotel corner, I saw Jordan Peterson's sassy daughter, Dora, walking toward us in the street. Must have been that Lillian saw her at the same time because she grabbed hold of my arm and smiled up at me like

... well, like I was her lover. Dora took it all in. Then she smiled. At me, she smiled.

A man can't stomp around all of his life with a chip on his shoulder. I smiled back.

Per capita travel in America outside of cities increased from about 550 miles in 1916 to nearly 2,300 miles in 1950, says the Twentieth Century Fund. Total travel per capita is now about 4,300 miles a year.

Old Fashioned Night Monday at North America Church Revival

An old fashioned organ will be played by Miss Candis Malone Monday night, and old fashioned oil lamps will light the auditorium of North America church, where a revival is in progress.

Monday has been designated "Old Fashioned Night" by Evangelist Olen Clarida, who is doing the preaching, and the pastor, Rev. Sam Molsinger, who is leading the singing. They have asked the congregation members to come in old fashioned costumes and it is hoped that the spirit of "old time religion" will truly be manifest at this meeting. Services begin each night at 7 o'clock.

Stridulation is the term applied to the sound made by crickets and locusts.
